Identify your data professional strengths

As a reminder, some qualities of an ideal data professional include passion for data analysis, strong interpersonal skills, and problem solving. Now, it's your turn to reflect and share your personal qualities with other learners. For this discussion prompt, consider the following:

Which of the qualities outlined in this lesson's reading↗ do you see most strongly in yourself?
Which qualities are you hoping to develop further?